

WEST VIRGINIA CREDITORS AGREE TO THOMPSON SALE

Compromise Signed in Pittsburgh Believed to Be Final Act of Litigation.

REFERRED TO REFEREE

What is believed to be the final step in the litigation involving the liquidation of the J. V. Thompson estate was taken in Pittsburgh Saturday when trustees of the Thompson estate and creditors of the Thompson property agreed to a compromise agreement which, it is understood, removes all objections to the sale of the Thompson property to the Piedmont Coal company, went into federal court with a compromise agreement which, it is understood, removes all objections to the sale. The compromise agreement was signed also by the J. V. Thompson creditors committee.

Payment of the funds derived from the sale is expected to begin during the week of February 23.

The agreement provides for the payment of $1,021,584 to West Virginia creditors. In the original proposition for the sale to the Piedmont Coal company, the West Virginia creditors were allotted $1,000,000 which they declared was insufficient. Two million dollars was allotted to the Pennsylvania creditors and two and a half millions was allotted to the personal property, the Piedmont Coal company paying $5,500,000 for the equity in all of the Thompson properties.

Judge Charles P. Orr, before whom the compromise agreement was presented, entered an order of court referring the agreement to Referee William R. Blair and soon afterwards Mr. Blair called a meeting of the Thompson creditors for February 21, 1920, for approval of the agreement. This approval, if voted by the creditors, will remove all objections to the sale and a direct order recommending the sale will be possible. It is expected that this will be done and that an order may be entered in court at a later date than the first of the following week. In that event, it is understood, payment of the $5,500,000 for the equity will be started immediately.

DO GOOD TURN EVERY DAY, MOTTO OF SCOUTS DURING PRESENT WEEK

Seven-day observance, beginning Sunday, formally ushered in by members of local troops.

"Good Turn Week" was formally launched in Connellsville Sunday. It will continue to and including Saturday. It is a part of a nation-wide movement.

Scouts during the forenoon visited the churches and explained the object of the movement, at the same time reading a proclamation by Mayor John Duggan calling for general observance of the week. In the evening the ministers read the proclamation. At the evening hour, also, special services were held at the Methodist Episcopal church where Rev. G. L. C. Richardson delivered a sermon to 75 scouts on "Overcoming Impediments." In connection with the services the members of the several troops represented gave the scout salute and pledge.

What is meant by "Good Turn Week" was explained at the Presbyterian church by Scout Brown Higbee; at the United Brethren church by William E. Eos; at the United Presbyterian church by Donald Yoder; at the First Christian and First Baptist churches by Arthur B. Eick.

At each church visited tracts knotted by the scouts were distributed. Wearing one of these pledges the person to a "good turn" every day during the week. The scouts ask that all wear them—men, women, boys and girls—and that all join in the spirit of the week.

The proclamation of the mayor reads:

"The Boy Scouts of America is just now completing the first decade of its noteworthy history as an organization devoted to the welfare of the boys and the making of good citizens.

"It behooves us both as individuals and as a community to aid, encourage and support by every means within our power an organization which has such a splendid record of progress and service as the Boy Scouts of America has to show for the 10 years of its existence.

"It is fitting that we at this time give due recognition to the great organization."

"Therefore I, John Duggan, mayor of the city of Connellsville, do hereby recommend the period marking the 10th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement, February 8 to 14, observed in this city as Good Turn Week and I strongly urge that every man, woman and child in this community for that period at least adopt the Boy Scout habit of doing a good turn daily."

POLICEMAN AND FAMILY HAVE A NARROW ESCAPE

Timely Discovery of Fire Probably Saves D. H. Turner, Wife and Children.

A West Penn street car crew probably saved the lives of Patrolman D. H. Turner and his family Sunday morning when they saw his home in the East Crawford avenue burning and, pounding on the door, awakened the sleeping inmates.

The fire, supposed to have started under a hot water tank in the kitchen, had gained good headway when the car crew, C. D. Jones and George Deiber, were passing just after 6 o'clock.

The family, asleep on the second floor, had considerable difficulty in finding their way to safety through the dense smoke, and all were nearly overcome by the fumes.

The house was badly damaged, for although the fire department made a quick response to the call, it was delayed in getting water on the flames when a bushing blew out in the hydrant at the corner of Fayette street and East Crawford avenue, necessitating the laying of another line from the Murphy avenue plug. The interior of the house was practically burned out.

The structure was owned by Ernest Robbins. It was insured for $1,000. Patrolman Turner saved some of the furniture on the first floor, but much of the remainder was destroyed, that escaping the fire being damaged by water.

During the fire a young man struck one of the firemen and was placed under arrest. He posted a $5 forfeit. Mayor Duggan said that should such a thing happen again, the offender would be severely dealt with.

BODY OF DOLLY MARIETTA MAY HAVE BEEN CARRIED OVER FALLS

Up to 2 o'clock today the body of Miss Dolly Marietta, who is believed to have drowned, was seen Saturday morning in the Younghighly river at Onondaga, had not been recovered. The search was continued, further use of dynamite being planned for this afternoon. Several charges were exploded in the stream Sunday.

Late in the afternoon a coal belonging to Miss Marietta was thrown into the river at the point she was believed to have leaped in. It was soon carried over the falls. Believing that the body of the young woman may have followed the same course, charges of explosives were placed in the pool below the falls but without result.

It was ascertained from the members of the Smith Whiskey family, with whom Miss Marietta made her home, that she wore neither coat nor hat when she left the house. She was clad in the garments of everyday use about the home and was engaged in preparing breakfast when she decided to leave.

Hundreds of persons were gathered Sunday about the scene of the drowning. Approximately 100 persons assisted in dragging the river and otherwise searching for the body.

CONNELLVILLE AND OTHER TOWNS WILL HAVE TO PAY FOR GAS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—The city of Connellsville will have to pay for the gas heretofore furnished free by the Fayette County Gas company, according to a precedent established in a similar case just decided by the Public Service Commission. One of these was the case of the city of Frank in and neighboring boroughs which had filed a complaint against the United Natural Gas company, which had given notice of its intention to withdraw free service to the municipalities, just as the Fayette County Gas company has done in the territory served by it. The other was, he case of the borough of Clarion against Gas company. In decisions handed down by Commission John S. Ring both complaints were dismissed.

In referring to the fact that some of the contracts containing provisions for free service were made prior to the enactment of the public service law of 1917, Mr. Ring observes: "Many practices which were permitted prior to January 1, 1917, are no longer permissible" and that since the passage of that law "the property of every public utility in Pennsylvania must be considered from and viewed from the point of view of the public interest." He said that it has been taken out of the domain or realm of private property and set aside for public service, that it has been impressed with a public character and no longer has the right to make speculative profits. It must be content with earnings as restricted by law. Its property is set aside for public service.

It is held that all services rendered must be paid for according to law and that if service is rendered to a municipality free or at a reduced rate "it necessarily must be paid for by some one and the burden of its cost is imposed upon other shoulders" and, therefore, violative of the public service company law.

NEW COURT RULE

No More Will Convicted Criminals Be Ordered From Somerset County.

SOMERSET, Feb. 9.—Judge John A. Berkey, in criminal court, here Saturday, announced his intention to abandon the practice of permitting defendants in criminal cases to go free upon the promise of leaving the county, or by banishing them from the county.

Instead, the judge asserted, he will endeavor to keep them in his own jurisdiction where they will be given an opportunity to redeem themselves and become good citizens. The jurist scored the practice of courts in expelling such lawbreakers from the particular county's jurisdiction, only to place the responsibility upon some other part of the commonwealth.

Judge Berkey gave voice to these sentiments when he was confronted by the case of Julius Gaster, of Windham, who entered a plea of guilty to selling liquor without a license. The judge directed that he pay the costs, placing him on probation for the period of one year.

14 HENS LAY 13 EGGS A DAY. EASILY DONE

Mr. Moore's Hens Lay When Eggs are Scarce. Here's the Plan.

"I had been getting 2 or 3 eggs a day from 15 hens. Then I commenced putting Don Sung in the feed, and am getting 11 to 13 eggs a day, with one hen setting. Don Sung is the best thing I ever found for making hens lay."

Mr. Moore used 50 cents worth of Don Sung in January. Figure his profit with eggs selling at around 70 cents a dozen. And this is no better than Don Sung is doing for thousands of others. Accept our offer just as Mr. Moore did.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how low the market is, we will return your money. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Bureau Dugger, 320 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.—Adv.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Home.

As Tarzan of the Apes hurried through the trees the discordant sounds of the battle between the Abyssinians and the lions smote more and more distinctly upon his sensitive ears, redoubling his assurance that the plight of the human element of the conflict was critical indeed.

At last the glare of the camp fire shone plainly through the intervening trees, and a moment later the giant figure of the ape-man paused upon an overhanging bough to look down upon the bloody scene of carnage below.

His quick eye took in the whole scene with a single comprehending glance and stopped upon the figure of a woman standing facing a great lion across the carcass of a horse.

The creature was crouching to spring as Tarzan discovered the tragic tableau. Numa was almost beneath the branch upon which the ape-man stood, naked and unarmed. There was not even an instant's hesitation upon the part of the latter—it was as though he had not even paused in his swift progress through the trees, so lightning-like his survey and comprehension of the scene below him—so instantaneous his consequent action.

Wide went Jane Clayton's eyes in wonder and incredulity as she beheld this seeming apparition risen from the dead. The lion was forgotten—her own peril—everything save the woman.

Hurling Against the Leaping Beast Like a Huge Animated Battering Ram.

droes miracle of this strange, recedescence.

She saw the slinky form leap to the shoulder of the lion, hurling against the leaping beast like a huge, animate, battering ram. She saw the carnivore brushed aside as he was almost upon her, and in the instant she realized that no substanceless writh could thus turn the charge of a maddened lion with brute force greater than the brute's.

Tarzan, her Tarzan, lived! A cry of unspeakable gladness broke from her lips, only to die in terror as she saw the utter defenseless of her mate and realized that the lion had recovered himself and was turning upon Tarzan in mad lust for vengeance.

At the ape-man's feet lay the discarded rifle of the dead Abyssinian whose mutilated corpse sprawled where Numa had abandoned it. The quick glance which had swept the ground for some weapon of defense discovered it, and as the lion reared upon his hind legs to seize the rash man-thing who had dared interpose its puny strength between Numa and his prey, the heavy stock whirled through the air and splintered upon the broad forehead.

Not as an ordinary mortal might strike a blow did Tarzan of the Apes strike, but with the maddened frenzy of a wild beast backed by the steel teeth which his wild, arboreal boyhood had bequeathed him. When the blow ended the splintered stock was driven through the splintered skull into the savage brain, and the heavy iron barrel was bent into a rude Y.

THIS WILL INTEREST STOMACH SUFFERERS

Says Indigestion Comes From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate "sour" food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive acids and instead, get from our pantry many four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and restore a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

Have You Seen the Cooling System in Our New Market?

Any day or every day—except Saturday—our patrons will be more than welcome to inspect the new ammonia refrigeration system with which we are cooling the delicatessen and meat counters and refrigerators where are kept the high class produce with which we are serving them and the public generally.

We are proud of the completeness of this equipment by which we can safeguard against deterioration of the food stuffs we carry and can maintain the standards of excellence for which our grocery has always been noted.

The North Pittsburg street store with its grocery, delicatessen, meat market and green grocery, candies, fine cakes and tobacco on the first floor and the carpet and New Edison departments on the second floor, is now serving a clientele that is growing day by day, this, too, despite delays in delivery owing to illness among our drivers and salespeople.

Until such time as direct telephone lines are installed, patrons will facilitate service by calling the exchange at the Crawford avenue store.

To Prevent Flu and Colds Three Rules You Should Observe

- (1) Sleep 8 hours—with windows wide open
- (2) Eat wisely—exercise regularly—don't worry
- (3) Avoid crowds and persons having colds

Flu This Year is Milder

The rules given above, recommended by the New York City Board of Health, are guides to good health at all times. Particularly should they be followed just now, when influenza is again abroad in the land. Authorities agree, however, that the flu this year is less severe than in the last epidemic—the attacks are shorter and the death rate lower. In fact, many physicians insist that the epidemics now being reported from so many sections are not flu at all, but simply the old-fashioned grip.

Keep the Air Passages Healthy.

While we know very little more about the flu now than we did last year—the germ itself has never been positively identified—still most authorities agree that the flu germs are breathed in. If the system is in good shape and the membrane lining of the air passages is in healthy condition—these germs are thrown off.

A good plan is to melt a little Vicks' VapoRub in a spoon, night and morning, and inhale the vapors, also apply a little up the nostrils several times a day, especially just before being exposed to crowds.

Treat All Colds Promptly

Above all, keep free from colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and make them real breeding grounds for germs. Prompt use of Vicks' VapoRub aids in preventing colds. For head colds, sore throat or hoarseness, rub Vicks' well over the throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. For deep chest colds, severe sore throat or bronchitis, hot towels should first be applied to the

Use of External Treatments For Colds Increasing

Vicks' VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist who found how to combine in salve from the standard time-tested remedies, Camphor—Menthol—Eucalyptus—Thyme, etc.—so that when the salve is applied to the body these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors.

Vicks' is particularly recommended for children's croup or colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used freely and often without the slightest harmful effects.

The best evidence of the value of Vicks' is the steadily increasing number of people who have been converted to the use of this "outside" treatment.

Beginning with the customers of a small retail drug store, the use of Vicks' has grown year by year—state by state—until now more than 17 million jars are used annually. And this in spite of the fact that Vicks' is a new form of treatment to many folks in the North and West. Vicks' can be had at all druggists in three sizes—50c, 60c, or $1.20.
